

America And France Propose World Peace

Form of Treaty Which United States Is Prepared To Sign Submitted to Britain, Germany, Italy And Japan, With Invitation to Bind Themselves Not to Resort to War With One Another.

Washington, April 13 (P)—Great Britain, Germany, Italy and Japan were invited today to join France and the United States in the negotiation of a world wide treaty binding the nations not to resort to war with one another.

The invitation was extended by Secretary Kellogg, after an agreement on the procedure with Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France. In a note to the four governments, presented simultaneously at London, Berlin, Rome and Tokyo today, by American diplomatic representatives, Kellogg outlined the discussions on the proposal between himself and Briand, and submitted a draft representing in a general way the form of treaty the United States is prepared to sign. Its language is practically identical with the original treaty proposed by Briand to the United States last June.

Ask Stand of Nations.
The four governments were told the United States "would be pleased to be informed as promptly as may be convenient whether they are in a position to give favorable consideration to the conclusion of a treaty such as transmitted, and, if not, what specific modifications in the text would make it acceptable."

With the note and draft treaty were presented a copy of the text of Briand's original proposal and copies of all the correspondence on the subject between France and the United States, which have been made public heretofore. The views of the two governments, Kellogg said, were clearly set forth in the correspondence.

U. S. Desires War Abolished.
"The government of the United States," as stated in its note of February 27, 1928, desires to see the institution of war abolished. Kellogg's note declared, "and stands ready to conclude with the French, British, German, Italian and Japanese governments a single multilateral treaty open to subsequent adherence by any and all other governments binding the parties thereto not to resort to war with one another."

France's Position.
"The government of the Republic of France, while no less eager to promote the cause of world peace and to cooperate with others in any practical movement towards that end, has pointed out certain considerations which in its opinion must be borne in mind by those powers which are members of the League of Nations, parties to the treaties of Locarno, or parties to other treaties guaranteeing neutrality."

Believe All Can Join.
"My government has not conceded that such considerations necessitate any modification of its proposal for a multilateral treaty, and is of the opinion that every nation in the world can, with a proper regard for its own interests, as well as for the interests of the entire family of nations, join in such a treaty. It believes, moreover, that the execution of a treaty solemnly renouncing war in favor of the peaceful settlement of international controversies would have a tremendous moral effect and ultimately lead to the adherence of all other governments at the world."

Proposed Draft.
The articles of the proposed draft treaty are as follows:

Article I.
"The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies, and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another."

Article II.
"The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes of conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

Article III.
"The present treaty shall be ratified by the high contracting parties named in the preamble in accordance with their respective constitutional provisions, and shall take effect as soon as all their ratifications or instruments of ratification shall have been deposited at (world capitals)."

"This treaty shall, when it has come into effect, as prescribed in the preceding paragraph, remain open as long as may be necessary for adherence by all the other powers of the world. Every instrument evidencing the adherence of a power shall be deposited at . . . and the treaty shall immediately upon such deposit become effective as between the power thus adhering and the other powers parties hereto."

"It shall be the duty of the government of . . . to furnish each government named in the preamble and

Socialists Seek Head of Ticket

New York, April 13 (P)—The sixteenth annual convention of the Socialist party opens tonight at the Manhattan Opera House, with Norman Thomas of New York and James H. Maurer of Reading, Pa., mentioned as the most likely presidential nominees.

Both men have announced they are not candidates, but a move is on to "draft" one of them as the party's standard bearer in the November election.

Nominations for both president and vice president are expected to be made Monday night. Thomas has long been active in Socialist circles and was that party's nominee for mayor of New York in 1925. Maurer is president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor and commissioner of finance in the Socialist city government of Reading.

Morris Hillquit, prominent New York Socialist, will make the keynote speech.

Smith Favored to Win Washington

Spokane, Wash., April 13 (P)—Governor Smith of New York, was favored by observers to win the 14 votes of Washington Democrats for the Presidential nomination as delegates assembled for the state convention here today.

While some of the party leaders endorsed as members of the state delegation to the Democratic National Convention were on record as opposed to Smith, the sentiment of the convention here admittedly was overwhelmingly favorable to him. George F. Christensen, a Smith supporter, was conceded more than an even chance for re-election as national committeeman. He is opposed by Maurice Langhorne of Tacoma.

18th Amendment Action Stands

Albany, April 13 (P)—The court of appeals today dismissed the application of A. Stanley Copeland of Buffalo for a court order requiring the Department of State to notify the federal government that the New York Legislature had exceeded its authority in ratifying the eighteenth amendment.

Copeland based his application on the theory that under the state Constitution the Legislature of 1919 did not have the right to ratify an amendment to the federal constitution and that such ratification should have been made by a convention of the people of the state.

Stole Car Here Jardine Comes to And Wrecked It Hoover's Defense South of Milton

Charles H. Saart of New York City Found Asleep in Stolen Car Which He Had Wrecked Thursday Night—Car Owned by Harry Johnson of Grand View Avenue.

Thursday evening the theft of a Buick coach owned by Harry Johnson of 15 Grand View avenue, while it was parked on John street, near the Lyons Restaurant, was reported to police headquarters and a general alarm was sent out. About 11 o'clock the same evening Motorman John Winchell of the trolley read reported that his trolley car had been struck by an automobile driven at a fast rate of speed on Broadway near Suyvestant street. The stop and handle grip on the trolley car was knocked off. On the scene of the collision the police later found a hub cap from a Buick car and also the handle of the coach door.

About 3 o'clock this morning the police department received word from the Newburgh police department that the driver of the Albany Packing Company truck had reported to them that about a mile and a half south of Milton he had passed a wrecked Buick coach bearing the license number 9H-7551, and that a man was sitting in the coach asleep.

The local police immediately notified Sergeant Hofer of the State Troopers who went to the scene and placed the man, who was still asleep in the coach under arrest. The Buick had been badly wrecked. It was towed to Louis Smith's garage at Highland.

Sergeant Hofer and another State Trooper brought the man found in the stolen car to police headquarters where he gave his name as Charles R. Saart of 405 West 46th street, New York City. He said that Thursday evening he had found the car parked on John street and as it was unlocked he had gotten in and driven it away. He also said according to the police that he had had a collision with a trolley car on Broadway but had not stopped to see what damage he had caused but had continued on.

South of Milton, he said, according to the police, that he had sideswiped a truck and had driven off the road into a culvert.

Saart, who is a young man, was arraigned later in the day before Judge Shufeldt in police court on a charge of grand larceny when he waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

Secretary of Agriculture Denies Hoover Worked to Injure Farmers—Says He Always Acted in Defense of the Powers of the Department

Washington, April 13 (P)—A strong defense of Secretary Hoover against charges that he has usurped some of the powers of the agriculture department and otherwise has worked to injure the farmer was made today by Secretary Jardine. In a letter dated April 11 and made public today, the Agriculture Secretary told Charles S. Wilson, former commissioner of agriculture of New York state and now a farmer at Hall, New York, that "there is not the slightest essence of truth in these charges, and I would resent them if they were made with honest intentions."

Mr. Wilson, under date of April 10, had written Jardine saying he had heard the charge made that "Mr. Hoover, as secretary of commerce, has encroached upon the work of the Department of Agriculture and in other ways had hindered the operation of your department in the interest of the farmers."

"It has been my feeling," Wilson said, "that these charges were made for ulterior motives, but I have come to the conclusion that the farmers of New York state and of the country at large are deserving of a frank statement from you, for these charges involve that branch of the federal government designed to render service to American agriculture."

Replying, Secretary Jardine said that he had "consistently refused to be drawn into a controversy on the unproved charges," because he fully understood the motives of the small group that has been responsible for making them.

"Under normal circumstances," he wrote, "I would not dignify these attacks, but I have come to the conclusion that the farmers of this country are entitled to know the facts because these charges seriously reflect upon the work of this department and the twenty thousand splendid people who are listed on its rolls."

"During the three years in which I have been secretary of agriculture I have enjoyed the wholehearted and sympathetic support of Secretary Hoover in all matters pertaining to the administration of the department of Agriculture, and his actions always have been in the interest of the department's work and of the American farmer. In fact, the records show that in many instances in which the work of the two departments was involved he was actually partial to the Department of Agriculture."

The flight of the German plane, the Bremen, from Ireland to New York had been underway 27 hours at 1:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time, today, and in all that time the only report of its probable progress came from the Canadian press, which stated that two men at Kingsport, N. S., thought they saw it high overhead at 9:50 a. m. No Canadian planes were in that vicinity at the time, so far as known.

The Canadian press quoted these men as saying that the plane was too high for them to distinguish any detail but they were confident that it was the monoplane which took off at Baldonnell airfield yesterday for flight to Mitchell Field, N. Y.

In the four hours that followed, no confirming reports were received anywhere along the Atlantic seaboard. It was pointed out, however, that much of the route would lie off shore and that at the previous rate of flight the plane could not be expected at New York before 3:30. It was believed to have sufficient fuel for flight one hour after take-off.

Captain Barkhouse, master of the Canadian cutter Arras, lying at Kingsport, was the man who first reported the airplane and because of his long service Halifax officials had great confidence in his judgment. Barkhouse said that the plane was on a direct course for Cape Cod, which might explain lack of other reports since much of the intervening distance is water.

Maine Guardsmen See Plane.
Bath, Maine, April 13 (P)—Coast guardsmen at Popham Beach, at the mouth of the Kennebec river, reported that they heard the whirr of an airplane at about 1:20 o'clock, eastern standard time, this afternoon, and finally sighted one flying very high and headed west. They said the plane was so far off they could not read any distinguishing marks.

Reported Sighting Plane.
The Canadian Press today reported the sighting of an airplane believed to be the Junkers monoplane, the Bremen, at Kingsport on the north side of Nova Scotia. The plane was flying high along the coast set by the three aviators who manned the Bremen for its attempt to fly from Baldonnell airfield, near Dublin, Ireland, to Mitchell Field, N. Y., a distance of about 3,200 miles. Kingsport, on Minas Basin, is about 500 miles from the goal in an air line.

The plane was reported sighted at 9:30 a. m. eastern standard time. Almost exactly 33 hours after the take off yesterday morning, increased probability that it was the eagerly awaited monoplane was lent by the fact that it was very nearly on the schedule time as well as route of the flight.

Captain Hermann Koehl and Colonel James Fitzmaurice were the co-pilots of the Bremen with the sponsor of the flight, Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeldt, as passenger and handyman. The plane was believed to have fuel for forty hours of flying which should bring it to New York with a safe margin.

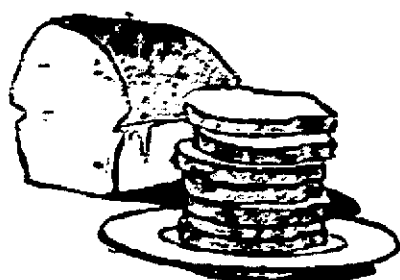

Assuming that the plane had maintained its most economical flying speed of ninety miles an hour and taking the estimates of United States naval officers of the distance from Dublin to New York at 3,200 miles, the silver junker bird at 9:30 would have been some distance southwest of Nova Scotia and within three hours flight of Mitchell Field, although that position is in the frequented track of warlike vessels, the radio companies had had no report of the plane at that hour.

If the plane had been delayed by adverse conditions they might have found themselves encountering the strong southeast winds and low visibility reported from Newfoundland this morning. From further east, however, the United States Coast Guard reported clear weather with a light north breeze.

Welcomes at Mitchell Field.
Mitchell Field, N. Y., April 13 (P)—Huddled into the little bungalow that houses the flying field headquarters, a score of welcoming officials and unofficials were waiting today for word that the German Monoplane Bremen had crossed the Atlantic and was headed for her destination here.

Fred Melchor, chief pilot for the Junkers Corporation which built the Bremen, was standing by to take the air in a sister ship to the transport.

FREE MOVING.

"Anyone who knows of a large pine tree under 25 feet high that can be had for the taking should turn in the location of the pine," the Emporia, Kan., Gazette advises its readers. Eight Emporia pines about 16 feet high have recently been rescued from a building site and planted in a new park. Some big lilacs and other trees are to be moved, too.

Here is a scheme which should be widely copied wherever there are fine trees and shrubs menaced by building construction, paying or other improvements. The day is past when it is necessary simply to cut down and destroy trees that seem to bar the path of progress. We can now accomplish feats of tree-moving that would have seemed impossible a few years ago.

People are beginning to realize now, as never before, what a great advantage fine trees and shrubs are to any city or town. They dislike to see a fine tree ruthlessly cut down, just to get it out of the way.

ISLAND LOST.

It is a terrible blow to the glory and prestige of Uncle Sam to lose that island of Las Palmas, in the Pacific. Its ownership has been in dispute for many years, and many statesmen have maintained Uncle's right to it.

Uncle's grief, however, is mitigated by the knowledge that that particular piece of real estate, about 50 miles from the outermost edges of the Philippine group, is only two miles long, about half a mile wide, and nearly all worthless jungle, with a population of 700 Malays, whose chief occupation is smuggling. Its money value is problematical; a real estate investor might pay several thousand dollars for it, if he didn't need the money. The political and economic value are almost nil.

Yet nations have fought wars for no greater reason, as dogs fight over a dry bone. By the decision of the Swiss jurist handling this dispute, the United States has lost nothing worth keeping, and by cheerful acceptance our government has contributed its moral support to the principle of settling international controversies by arbitration.

CHILDREN AND NATURE.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" isn't read very much any more. Yet the child in that story and Frances Hodgson Burnett. Its author, are both so dearly loved by many Americans that their memory is deemed worthy of a lovely tribute to be placed in the Children's Garden in Central Park in New York.

This is a memorial fountain and bird bath. It will be set in an oval enclosure surrounded with such shrubs and flowers as birds most enjoy. Within this charmed spot will be the bird-bath fountain group in bronze. Two children, a boy playing a reed pipe and a girl holding a bowl of clear water, will be the central figures. They will be of bronze. Real birds that splash and preen and drink will add to the loveliness of the picture. To complete the scene, there will be real children, too, who stand hushed and with sparkling eyes to watch the birds.

The spot is set apart for nature study and for story-telling to little groups of children. Public parks offer space for romping and frolicking in the sunshine. They should also have such sheltered nooks as this, where children may experience the quiet and peace and beauty of nature.

COURTROOM EFFICIENCY.

A remarkable thing happened in the beginning of the new trial of Harry F. Sinclair, in Washington, in the Teapot Dome case. It is a thing full of hope for American courts. The public expected the usual delay over impaneling a jury, with the lawyers on both sides using their challenges lavishly, engaging in scintillating argument, emphasizing important technicalities, jockeying for every imaginable advantage, obstructing progress and wasting time according to the usual procedure in hard-fought cases.

There was none of that. The judge quietly took matters into his own hands, questioning prospective jurors and choosing the jury himself, and presiding the disputations last night every time they showed signs of confusion and eloquence. As a result a jury was obtained from the first panel of 55 men, and it took only five hours and five minutes to select it. From all indications, the trial will proceed to its end in the same unobstructed way, in so far as the judge is able to control it.

Here is a conspicuous example of efficiency in the business of public justice, the same sensible and energetic procedure that would be used in private enterprise. It is an example, too, of the power a judge has when he chooses to use it.

Our courts today are overgrown with evil, most of which are chargeable to the legal profession, because it either has caused them or could remedy them. Judges themselves, as matters stand, without any new legislation, can greatly expedite and simplify court procedure and thereby promote justice. The bar, through influence over the conduct and ethics of its members and the shaping of legislation, could accomplish a great deal more.

AN ORGANIZATION TO PREVENT MENTAL ILLMENTS.

It has been interesting to watch the gradual effect upon the parents of the physical examination of their children in the schools. At first there was considerable opposition, as parents felt that the school authorities were interfering with their private rights. However, as they saw the wonderful progress physically and mentally where deficient eyesight was corrected, improper hearing restored to normal, dental troubles likewise relieved, infected tonsils and adenoids removed, improper posture and other conditions detected, they have come to look upon the school doctor, dentist and nurse as real friends of the family. They have confidence in them, and this confidence has been of great help to a movement started just ten years ago that goes just a little deeper into the private life of the child and the home.

As you know there are more inmates in hospitals for mental ailments than there are in all the other hospitals, notwithstanding that there are now more cures accomplished in mental conditions than ever before. Dr. C. A. Martin of Montreal tells us that a few physicians, and some thoughtful men and women, in thinking over this problem of so many inmates of mental hospitals, realized that the only chance to combat this condition was to seek the cause first, and then try to correct it.

And so ten years ago a society known as the Canadian National Council for Mental Hygiene was inaugurated. Think of that for a moment. A voluntary organization banding themselves together to try and prevent mental ailments, prevent mental ailments by examination of mothers before birth of the child, and to help the condition of those who were incurable.

They found out that in the schools at least four children in every hundred needed scientific treatment along mental lines, owing to cravings, tantrums, repressions, and so forth.

These figures show that there are more children of this type than there are graduates of our universities. This organization was able to show the Canadian government, and the government of seven provinces, that if these children were given special training that the majority of them would become useful citizens, and take their place in the world, instead of becoming a care on the community. This organization raised and spent its own money in demonstrating these facts to the governments and to the public generally.

And these governments have spent millions of dollars on the advice of this organization and have spent it gladly, not only from a humanitarian standpoint but because it has been a good investment financially. It is organizations such as this that makes so many folks think that the world is really growing better, because behind it all is the thought of "the other fellow".

THE SMARTEST SHOES YOU'VE EVER SEEN

But with Support and Freedom for your tired feet!

STYLE with support and freedom—three qualities you have despaired of getting in one pair of shoes!

But slip your feet into a pair of Paris-inspired Arch Preserver Shoes. At once you'll join the happy women whom these wonder shoes have released from chains of foot weariness and fatigue.

You don't fully realize how ordinary "sagging-arch" shoes have taken toll of every nerve and muscle in your body until Arch Preserver Shoes relieve you of the strain.

For every Arch Preserver Shoe, from stout walking brigades to high-heeled evening slippers in delicate leathers, gives you a combination of exclusive, patented comfort features, found in no other shoe.

A concealed built-in steel arch-bridge, of special size and shape, that takes all the strain off the long arch of the foot and prevents sagging sidewise, thus giving buoyancy to your spirits and to your carriage.

A specially modeled sole that supports the metatarsal arch.

A flat inner sole, crosswise, that prevents pinching or derangement of sensitive foot nerves, muscles and blood-vessels, which are the seat of so much trouble.

Heel-to-ball fitting insures the perfect functioning of foot and shoe as a unit.

Yet the support provided by the Arch Preserver Shoe is given only where support is needed. The Arch Preserver Shoe is as flexible as your foot. It bends freely with the foot at the ball, the only place the foot bends!

Don't deprive yourself of Arch Preserver style and comfort any longer. Also let the children and missus enjoy the priceless advantage of preserving their foot youth.

Mary Brian

Had not charming Mary Brian played the role of "Wendy" in "Peter Pan," the screen might have missed one of its most winsome young actresses. Miss Brian was born and educated in Dallas, Texas. The winning of a newspaper personality contest brought Miss Brian to the attention of producers and resulted in a contract for her, and she was given the part of "Wendy." Since then she has appeared to good advantage in a number of other pictures.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

WHAT IS EVOLUTION?

DARWIN, who first called attention to the working of the principle of evolution, was widely honored not only in England, but throughout the civilized world.

A young man who taught Darwin's ideas to his pupils was dismissed from the school in which he taught, and was fined $100.

But the Supreme court of the state in which this young man lived remitted the fine.

That is progress.

It is progress because it is a virtual admission that the court which imposed the fine was wrong.

For if evolution is a denial of a religion in which all men should believe, it is a crime to dispute it.

As a matter of fact, evolution is merely another name for progress, and it is progress which has made the world.

There is no denying the existence of God in stating that His work was done systematically and methodically—that He conceived a plan which the forces He created would be certain to carry out.

There is no sacrifice in tracing the various steps by which this plan has worked, bringing creatures up out of the sea, and permitting them to develop according to laid-down laws until finally man with his God-given brain came into existence.

It is not denying God to show how the world itself was formed from gases and the land was divided from the seas.

To one seeking a belief in a Creator evolution supplies abundance of evidence.

No evolutionist would deny that there is mind behind all this great work, or that there is mind behind the great system of suns and planets which surround us, a system so vast that we cannot conceive it.

Evolution is merely the doctrine of progress.

It is in a tremendous way that the development of the modern locomotive from James Watt's tea kettle has been, what the progress of building had brought about in erecting St. Paul's cathedral or the Woolworth building by using the ideas which resulted in the first hut of mud in which primitive man sheltered himself from the weather.

Evolution is working about us today, constantly.

A part of it is in the brain of man, but man's brain is puny compared to the mind which could devise a system which could continue to go on and on, as it has done since the crust of the earth formed about the fiery interior.

Men of religion unless they are bigots have no quarrel with evolution.

The facts that it teaches supply the most convincing of all possible proof of the existence of God.

Bleed are the poor. They get up early enough to enjoy these beautiful mornings.

Spring.
We hear the music of the woods
Grow louder day by day.
And spring no longer lingers
But now has come to stay.

Pocket books to fit the new sized currency are being designed. But to many citizens this will be regarded as a superfluous. Their pocket books are shrunk in advance.

Teacher: "Why don't you like school, Willie?"
Willie: "Oh, it's not the school so much as it is the principal of the thing."

Just a few more weeks and gardens will be making two weeds grow where one grew before.

Bitting off more than you can chew is all right provided you don't get indigestion.

Mrs. Smith: "This fellow thinks he can sing like Caruso."
Mrs. Brown: "Well, they do say as 'ow Caruso' ad a beautiful voice but 'ow could they know, with 'im stranded on that island with nobody to hear him but Friday?"

He (after long arguments): "I wonder what would happen if you and I ever agreed on anything."
She: "I'd be wrong."

"Hello, Brown, why you've shaved off your beard and moustache. I really wouldn't have recognized you if it hadn't been for my umbrella."

"Can you fix me up to look like a German or a Spaniard or even a Hottentot?" asked the nervous man, who had dropped into the costumer's shop.

"Just what's the idea—do you want a costume for a masquerade party or what?" asked the puzzled shopkeeper.

"No," replied the man. "I am an Englishman and I have to go to Chicago on business."

It's everybody's business to be careful.

Wanted: A lawn grass that will grow one inch high and then quit.

Go dig in the garden and get three health and strength and many green vegetables on thy table in the days to come.

GAS BUGGIES—The Pow-Wow

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Saturday, April 14.

"The Fortune Teller," a comic opera in three acts by Victor Herbert, with Jessica Dragonette, soprano, singing two roles, will be presented at the Palace Theatre through WJZ and the Blue Network at 9 o'clock Saturday night. The two leading male roles will be sung by Charles Robinson. The waltz from Debussy' ballet, "Nana," will be played by the New York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch in a concert which will go over the air through the Blue network stations at 8 o'clock. Victor Herbert's fantasy "America," will open the program, followed by a suite of arias from "Carmen," re-arranged with a modern interpretation. Bonifant's descriptive piece, "A Desert Sketch from Central Asia," and the andante from Brahms' "Symphony Number 2," complete the program. Another feature for 9 o'clock is a recital by the Nelsoniana female quartet which will be relayed by WFL. A story of Louisiana, "Cajun," will be related to the listeners of WCAZ at 9 o'clock, and at the same time the Gelsus weekly choir will present their weekly concert before the microphones of WNYC. Two pulses of harmonica—one vocal and the other instrumental—will unite their talents at 9:30 for WCAZ's best bet for Saturday night. The vocal duo consists of Taylor Buckley, baritone, and Mortimer Chisholme, tenor, while the instrumentalists are the well-known piano twins, Lester and Robert Tagliacoco. One of the high spots in this program will be the rendering of "Let a Smile be Your Umbrella" as a saxophone solo.

STRANGE ANIMAL OBJECT OF HUNTBeast Like Rhino Seen in Rhodesia Lures Ala-baman to Jungle.

Birmingham, Ala.—An unclassified animal, resembling somewhat the rhinoceros, will be the object of a hunting expedition into Rhodesia by Dr. Dan W. McMillan of Birmingham, a contributor to the Field Museum of Chicago.

The animal was sighted in northern Rhodesia by a fellow naturalist while Doctor McMillan was in Africa last spring, and upon his return to this country the latter immediately began preparations for another trip in an attempt to bag the unknown type.

Mixes Business and Hunting.
As chairman of the board of a steel corporation, Doctor McMillan mixes business with the thrilling experiences of an explorer, naturalist and big game hunter. A primitive urge, he says, calls him back year after year to fever-ridden jungles and trackless deserts and to frozen wastes of the Northland.

"This primitive urge lies dormant beneath the veneer of civilization in most of us," he says.

Four of the steel magnate's expeditions have been in Africa. On his last trip there he covered approximately 5,000 miles in a specially built automobile, over routes never before traversed by a car. His party built roads, cut paths through the jungles and pushed across the deserts. Forty inner tubes and 18 tires were used on the trip, and while crossing the desert of southwest Africa the automobile broke down, stranding the party for several days without water. The men finally made their way stout to a native settlement.

Attacked by Bushmen.
On another occasion, Doctor McMillan's safari was attacked by bushmen who used poisoned arrows to kill a number of the native bearers. The expedition was rewarded, however, with an excellent specimen of Inyala, the rarest of all species of African antelope. This specimen now is on display in the Field Museum.

NEW PALTZ METHODISTS HAVE HAD BUSY YEAR

The Methodist Church of New Paltz closed its year at the end of March and the following is a brief statement of its affairs: Worship, religious education, Christian training and aggressive activity have marked a year of hard work. In spite of the acute hardships of the cramped quarters all of the old and many new forms of endeavor have had emphasis. The Sunday school flourishes, with steady attendance. The young people have organized into an enthusiastic Epworth League. Student work through the Fellowship Club has found a steady pace, with particular interest in the "Ones-for-night" class where the general subject of study has been "The Christian." Sunday services have emphasized the power of Christian worship and the instruction of the preaching has centered around the leadership of Jesus Christ. It has tried to give full opportunity to the whole round of Christian enterprise.

The numerical returns are encouraging. Thirty-two have joined the church during the year, giving a net gain of twenty-six. The total membership is now 247 in addition to only eight non-resident members. Fourteen people of various ages have for the first time declared themselves followers of Jesus Christ. The financial report is always an indication of the health of a church. All bills are paid, with a small balance in the treasury, this in spite of the fact that two sources of income amounting to $254 have been permanently closed. The total budget for current local expenses was $3,032. In addition about $2,500 has been paid by our own people in pledges to the new church fund, $335 to World Service (Home and Foreign Missions), $130 to student loan fund (Children's Day), $132 to Women's Foreign Missionary Society, $92 to Five Points Mission, $142 to Anti-Saloon League, $23 to miscellaneous causes. This makes a total of $7,306 that the Methodists in New Paltz have earned or given of their own free will.

The indispensable Ladies' Aid Society has raised $1,800 of this amount, while the wonderful "Seekers' Class" of ladies led by Miss Dora Allen, teacher, have become noted for their quiet Christian charities.

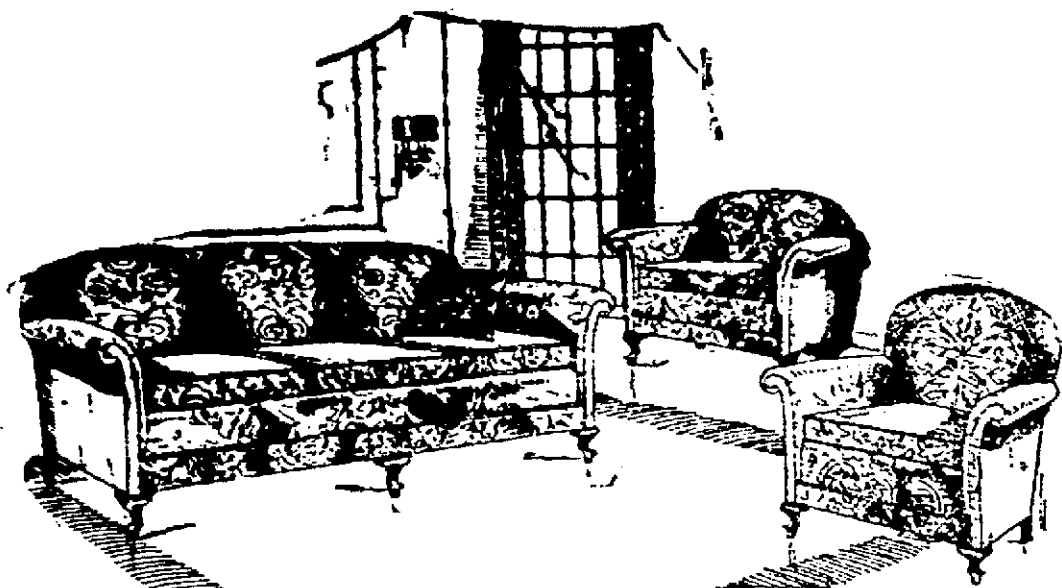

The new church program is proceeding actively and hopefully. New delays are met and overcome. The most serious recent one has been caused by the prolonged illness of investigator from the Department of Church Extension. He has now made his recommendations concerning the financial and structural plan to the committee, which will meet in Philadelphia, April 20. Meanwhile plans and specifications are drawn and waiting for the authorities to tell how much of the program may proceed upon their report. The most amazing thing about the project has been and continues to be the interest and determination of the people of the church themselves. On Monday of last week Bishop Ernest G. Richardson appointed the Rev. J. R. Halmshaw to the pastorate at New Paltz for a sixth year.

*The fast get-away -- the quick stop
-- this grinding wear demands*

General's Dual Tread Proper Size Line

WITH PRESENT LOW RUBBER PRICES, what's the use of worrying along with the ordinary tire. Never before has top quality cost so little ~ ~ never so easy to pay for ~ ~ and never has it meant so much.

What other tire has kept pace with the rapid development in motor cars, particularly in the past two years—their higher speed, extra power, quicker get-away, sudden stopping—punishment that tears down the ordinary carcass and grinds off the tread of any tire not built to meet the new driving conditions.

Built bigger and better through and through. Not merely thicker in tread—not merely more rubber on the surface. Even some of the cheaper tires might copy the thickness of the tread, but it isn't only the amount of rubber that counts with General—it's the kind. Not simply more rubber—and more per tire—but more pure rubber.

That is the sort of tire foundation the modern motor car must have for replacement of the original equipment tire lines that have proved too light for the job.

It is the reason for car owners everywhere changing over to the Dual Tread.

Proper Size General line, a swing so tremendous that it has carried General to the biggest sales gain in the industry—the only one of the big five tire manufacturers of Akron credited with an actual tire gain during the past season.

When you find such a percentage of the car owners coming to one make of tire it is pretty good evidence that there is one line and one only capable of standing the wear of this new hard-driving era.

The second set of tires must always be better than the first, for it's the second set that finds the wheels out of alignment, brakes needing adjustment, natural wear throughout the chassis that puts additional burdens on the tires. Where the other tire quits, General takes up the job. It carries the handicap that only such Proper Size, Dual Tread quality can carry and still deliver the greatest uninterrupted mileage—two to one over any other tire.

For Thin-Blooded People Doctors Advise Hemo-Liver

Hundreds of Thousands Easing Liver to Get Rich Red Blood.

Hundreds of physicians in New York and other cities who have used and prescribed a diet of beefs liver in cases of poverty of the blood or anemia are now prescribing a preparation called Hemo-Liver which is made by a scientific process from beefs livers.

By this process all the "Mysterious Substances" or vital elements that are obtained by eating liver are concentrated and put up in the form of a chair which is very palatable and pleasant to the taste.

Hemo-Liver is full of the vital elements of red blood-making vitamins that is one of the great discoveries of recent years and by taking a tablespoonful three times a day you'll get more and quicker benefit than by eating pounds of liver.

McBride and all progressive druggists sell Hemo-Liver in a big 12 ounce bottle that will last eight days and with the distinct understanding that if you are not joyfully satisfied with the improvement in health the purchase price will be returned.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 15 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished."

Stands Pat on Tax Reduction

Washington, April 13 (AP).—Standing pat on its program of tax reduction, the United States Chamber of Commerce, which came to grips with the administration on this subject early in the present session, presented its recommendations today to the Senate finance committee.

Submitted by Felix M. McWhorter of Indianapolis, a member of the chamber's committee on federal taxation, the program calls for a total tax cut of $294,000,000, more than $100,000,000 higher than that recommended by the House and nearly $200,000,000 above that now suggested as safe by the treasury.

The proposals, first submitted to the House ways and means committee last November, and now repeated, call for:

Reduction of the corporation tax from 15 to not more than 10 per cent.

Repeal of the remaining war excess taxes on particular businesses.
Repeal of the federal inheritance tax.

The administration is in partial agreement with this program. But differs widely with the proposed cut in the corporation levy. It now favors a reduction from 15 to only 12 per cent. The House has proposed a 12 1/2 per cent rate.

McWhorter said that nothing had developed in the last four months to cause the chamber to change its position. That the recommendation of its membership at the beginning of the war for heavier and drastic taxation was consistent with its position today for repeal of these war-time measures. And that it always had been an ardent advocate of "property budgetary procedure in the fiscal operations of the government."

Ford Talks With King and Queen

London, April 13 (AP).—Englishmen reading the Daily Mail today speculated as to what Henry Ford and King George and Queen Mary discussed for two hours over the teacups yesterday.

The paper said the monarch arrived at Cliveden, country home of Lady Astor, for a call at almost the same time as Mr. Ford came as a week-end guest. For nearly two hours the hostess and her three guests chatted together.

Curiosity as to what was said is likely to go unsatisfied since intimate conversations of this sort rarely find their way into print. It was assumed that King George found the talk agreeable since he and the queen could have withdrawn earlier if they so desired.

It was not known whether Lady Astor arranged the meeting or whether it was merely a chance one since the king and queen are now staying at Windsor Castle, which is a short drive from Cliveden.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

SPRING FURS ARE INCLINED TO BEIGE OR GRAY, WITH A DIPPING OF THE SCALES IN FAVOR OF FLAT TRIMMINGS SUCH AS CARACUL OR SHAVED LAMB.

Paris—it is something of a relief to find so many spring coats made of fur. Yet, just as one has made up one's mind to this fact, the result of a reaction after a particularly befuddled winter, along comes a smart woman wearing a fur-trimmed coat, or compromising by adding one or even two fox scarfs to a plain coat.

After the avalanche of natural lynx trimmings on black had been swept aside by almost as formidable an array of gray-furred black coats, we are now threatened with a super-abundance of cross and of beige fox, the latter being the approved fur from the Riviera standpoint.

Many contend, despite all this evidence, that it is the flat hats that will carry the season, and with these we are inclined to agree. Very flat cara-cut and shaved lamb effects are new-looking as a trimming, besides which they are less heavy in effect.

While all visiting Americans were impressed this winter by the Parisiennes' preference for gray squirrel coats, gray squirrel is rarely used as a trimming. The gray ensemble, which is in evidence, is more often completed by gray caracul, krimmer, or shaved lamb.

Flat furs are shown by the leading couturiers as spring wraps for the motorist or for evening. A particularly lovely one by Lanvin was reversible—black broadtail on one side and flat white caracul on the other. (Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York)

Chic Afternoon Frock
Worn by "Movie" Star

With the advent of more femininity in fashion, the one-piece frock is coming into its own again. An interesting exponent of the simpler type of "feminine" frock now coming to the fore so fast, is the chic afternoon gown such as is worn by Dorothy Sebastian, motion picture player featured in "Wyoming." It is of water blue chiffon, with the double cascade down the front and uneven hemline formed by a ruffle on the skirt. A belt of silver kid is worn at the hip tops. With this frock, Miss Sebastian wears a beige felt hat the same shade as the frock, and a string of crystal beads.

On Rearing Children
from CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN,"
The Magazine for PARENTS

Children need to be given responsibilities appropriate to their age and experience.

If you are not fortunate enough to have a tree in the backyard offering a stout limb for the support of a swing, a framework may be built so that the children need not miss what Stevenson calls, "the pleasant thing ever a child can do." Ready-made swings which fit on any doorway may be purchased for apartment use.

A cream soup is stimulating, appetizing and nutritious. It may be served as a course luncheon, or as a main dish for the child's dinner or supper.

Why not go out into the countryside with your boy or girl and see what is happening there? If you know for what to look you can make a walk a thrilling experience. Nature's immutable laws may be clearly seen in the world of out-of-doors. It is but a step to trace their application to our own lives.

If you contrast the emotions proper and necessary to a little boy of two with those proper and necessary to a young man of twenty-five, you will feel poignantly the changes—the almost complete reversal—the boy must make. He must pass from the filial attitude to the parental, from irresponsibility to responsibility, from the attitude of taking to that of giving, from diffidence to self-confidence.

The raising of muskrats to supply hotels and restaurants with the meat which is known as marsh hare will be extensively conducted at the Francis Kiss farm above Margaretville which will be known in the future as Muskrat Farms, Inc. When in full operation the farm will be able to supply from 12,000 to 15,000 carcasses a year as food and receive considerable revenue from the pelts.

About 150 galvanized houses, which hold from six to eight of the animals have been constructed on the farm. It is planned to erect 600 more in the near future. Muskrats have been purchased in the vicinity of the farm but as the supply is very limited animals were imported from Kansas and the New England States. They breed four times a year and

LIVE BUSINESS MEN ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—The trouble with the weather may be your radio. It is the theory of Captain W. H. Parker, master of the liner Homeric, that electrical waves precipitate rain and strengthen storms. Unprecedented freshet weather, he reasons, has increased with the greater use of radio.

Chicago—It seems very sodium nitrate, Dr. J. Frank Haver and Dr. Daniel H. Haver of the University of Chicago Medical School have experimented and are convinced it will cure many cases.

New York—There are hopes for almost instantaneous communication of quotations on the New York Stock Exchange over though sales should run to 1,000,000 a day. A new ticker which sends characters a minute instead of five, the limit of the present system, is being tested.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—If you don't try a little copper. In experiments at the University of Wisconsin anemia in rats has been corrected by milk in which copper compounds and iron have been mixed.

New York—There are to be hindrances to getting in taxicabs. The police are to enforce strictly a rule that the interior of a cab must be visible from outside; rear window must be at least eight inches by twenty.

Frankfort, Germany—Optimistic inventors have visions of new speed records by airplanes, airships and railway cars. A gas turbine operated on the principle of a rocket engine, a motor car is at the rate of 100 miles an hour eight seconds after starting.

Albany, N. Y.—Is an Airplane safe? Ask Glenn H. Curtiss. He and Victor Vernon, another veteran pilot, were last when their parked plane was hit by another. In thousands of miles of flying neither has been scratched.

Hanover, N. H.—Nelson D. Rockefeller, grandson of John D., has a black eye. It is a sad reminder that his class, the sophomores, were beaten by the freshmen in a rush.

New York—Miss Anne Morgan and Mrs. W. A. Vanderbilt, Sr., are sorry that the film of Edith Cavell's career given a license for exhibition here. Miss Morgan regards the execution scene one of the greatest pieces of propaganda against war she ever has observed. The killing of a German soldier because he refused to fire at the nurse was deleted by the censor.

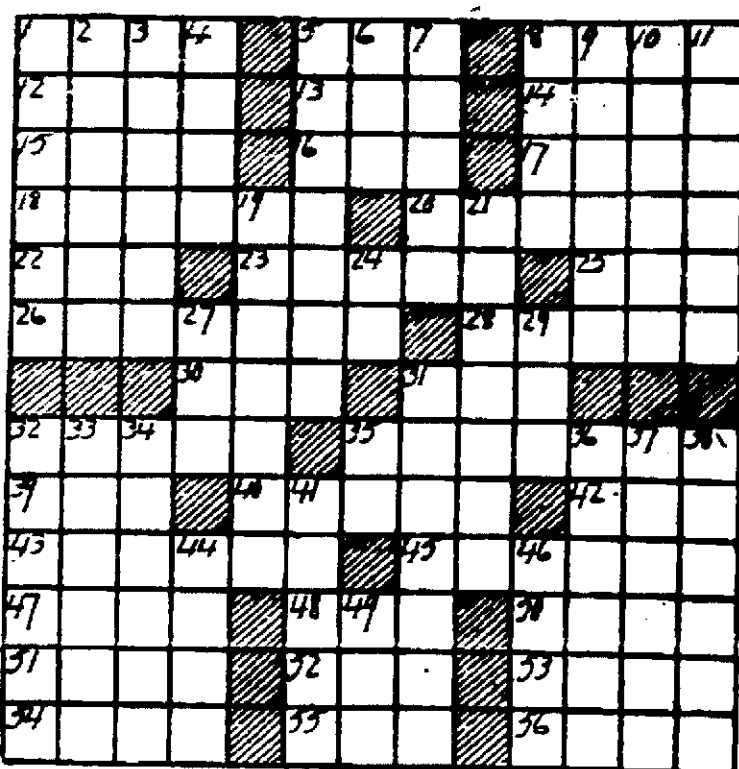

Kingville, Ontario—By wing the gospel is going to the wilds of Canada. So far this year Jack Miner has liberated 500 wild geese caught on the way from North Carolina to Hudson's Bay. Each has a tag bearing a verse of scripture.

King Alfred's Candles

King Alfred, feeling the need of conserving his time, used candles made with rings and belts of different breadths and colors, according to an old legend. When the candle had burned down to the ring, he knew he had been at long enough at whatever business he was then engaged in. As the wind or drafts often produced serious irregularities in the time of burning, the king contrived special lanterns for greater accuracy.—Exchange.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, April 12.—The Easter program given by members of the Reformed Sunday school on Sunday evening in the church hall, was well attended, approximately 150 being present. The children and young people of the school rendered a very fine program, each one taking his part very creditably. The front of the hall and the platform was very prettily decorated with blooming plants and branches of artificial flowers. The superintendent desires to thank all those who contributed to the success of the program in any way, also the friends of the Sunday school and the parents of many of the children, for attending the exercises, and also for the very fine offering that was received by the two young ladies who passed the collection plates.

The Reformed Sunday school was well attended on Easter Sunday, although many were kept at home by visitors, and some were out of town. Sunday school on April 13, at 2 p. m., lesson subject, "Transfiguration and Service," Mark 9:2-29. New scholars and visitors always welcome. Preaching service at close of Sunday school, starting at 3 p. m., in charge of the Rev. C. Van Tol.

WINTER'S OVER CHANGE YOUR OIL TODAY

"Is your crankcase ready for spring?"
That is the question every Socony man is asking the motorists at his station.

It is a vital question, for winter driving means diluted, dirty oil. Diluted, because the use of the choke in cold weather lets excess gasoline seep down into the crankcase. Dirty, because dust from the air gets into the oil through the air intake.

Let the Socony man drain the crankcase now. Let him flush it out with Socony Flushing Oil, and refill with Socony Motor Oil. It takes only a few minutes and costs only two or three dollars, depending on the amount of oil you need. No charge for the service; you pay only for the oils.

Important. Your car represents an investment of hundreds of dollars. Poor gasoline or motor oil can ruin that investment. Standardize on Socony, backed by fifty-four years of refining experience.

Stone Roads in Italy

News From the World on Wheels

Hupmobile's all-time monthly production and shipping record was shattered for the third time in the last five months, and for the second consecutive month, when March production and shipments surpassed 5,000 cars. Official figures, given out by R. S. Cole, general sales manager, show that 5,934 "Century" eights and sixes were shipped during the month. As March ended, every previous record in the company's history was exceeded in the demand for cars. This includes domestic production and shipments, those for Canada, and for overseas countries, during both the month of March and the first quarter of 1928.

The international stock car match race between a Stutz Black Hawk and a French Hispano-Suiza, a 24-hour speed classic to be held on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway track will start on Wednesday, April 13, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, instead of on April 16, as was originally planned. Delays in getting the French car through the customs department necessitated this two-day postponement.

Duplication of the famous Model 115 in a medium priced Six is Auburn's offering to the public. This chassis is obtainable in four body types, the Sedan, the Sport Sedan, the Cabriolet and the Roadster, and range in price from $1,195 to $1,395. The car is powered with the famous Lycoming Six motor.

An assembly plant to take care of Whippet and Willys-Knight cars on the Pacific coast and in the intermountain territory west of the Rockies, will be opened in Los Angeles, Calif., early this summer.

The Peerless Motor Car Corporation is celebrating the twenty-seventh anniversary of its start as a manufacturer of motor cars. As one of the two or three oldest institutions in the automobile business, Peerless has gone through all the stages of development, from the small, chugging affair with detachable tonneau, to the beautiful, luxurious smooth-running vehicle, today.

In six cylinder construction, too, Peerless was a pioneer. Continually improved manufacturing processes, advanced engineering and the economics of increasing production have combined to make possible finer Peerless Sixes at continually decreasing prices.

The production of a car such as the 1928 Peerless Six-60 at a price as low as $1,195 is declared to be one of the most remarkable feats in the history of automobile manufacture.

With March production running fourteen per cent ahead of any previous month in history, and production and sales organizations operating at a record-shattering pace, the Chevrolet Motor Company for the first quarter of 1928 built a total of 342,184 cars and trucks. This record output is 70,000 units more than the turnout during the corresponding period last year.

NEW PLAN FOR WHIPPET AND WILLYS-KNIGHT SALES

George J. Schryver of the George J. Schryver Motor Car Company of North Front street, local Willys-Overland dealer, returned Wednesday from a meeting held in New York at which announcement of a new financial credit plan which should further enlarge the rapidly widening market for Whippet and Willys-Knight cars, was a feature received with great enthusiasm by more than 200 Willys-Overland dealers.

The announcement, following the most drastic price cut ever made on a Willys-Knight car and which it is said has resulted in an avalanche of orders from Willys-Overland dealers throughout the country, made the meeting one of the most enthusiastic ever held in New York city. The new price on the Willys-Knight Six two-door five passenger sedan, as well as on other models, is the lowest figure at which a Willys-Knight car has ever been sold. The first three months' business shows an increase of 42 per cent over the same period last year and sets a record for a ninety day period for the Willys-Overland's twenty year history.

The meeting was held at the Hotel Commodore and was addressed by George Graham, vice president of the company.

The new time payment plan which has attracted much favorable attention from the dealers and to which they look as a great aid in increasing their sales to the purchaser who will buy on the time payment plan, places the sale of Willys-Overland motor cars on a credit basis which is among the most favorable and reasonable ever extended on the retail sale of automobiles. The financing of time payment under this new arrangement is made possible by a contract entered into for a period of years between the Willys-Overland Company and the Commercial Credit Company of Baltimore, Md., one of the largest and strongest automobile financing corporations in the country.

Production in the five plants of the company is at a new high mark. Production has now passed the 1,500 daily mark and facilities are under way which it is said will further materially increase production in a short time. Approximately 12,000 men are now on the payroll working in two daily shifts. It is expected an additional 2,999 will be added to the payroll by the first of May.

Modern Republican Party

The newly organized party assumed giant proportions in the fall of 1926, and was called the Republican party. That party nominated John C. Fremont of California for President. He was defeated by James Buchanan, but the party still increased in power and in 1890 elected its candidate—Abraham Lincoln.

Will on Handkerchief Disposes of Fortune

Chicago—Chinese hieroglyphics on a silk handkerchief 24 inches square disposed of the $25,000 estate of Don Big Ye. The strange will was unearthed by Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court, where the will had been filed two years ago.

Don Big Ye was in the chop suey business and inherited his savings.

Interpreted by a Chinese in court, the will leaves the entire fortune to his young American widow, who now lives in Hong-kong.

One clause of the will read: "I hope she will be as industrious, economical, faithful and loyal as she can be. She should know that the building up of a fortune is not an easy task and that keeping it is still harder."

High Society Fads and Foibles Enigma To Onlookers In New York

By SHIRLEY KIRKE
International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent

SOcial luminaries high in the rating of Park Avenue's best, are permitting their names and photographs to be used for advertising.

Cigarettes, mattresses, furniture, automobiles, everything, in fact, from flash reducers and hair restorers to patent lighters and refrigerators, blaze forth in advertisements signed by Social Register four-syllable names.

This recent fad, though a profitable one to the donors of the signatures, was created by no less a personage than Her Majesty, Queen Marie of Roumania.

Duchesses, Countesses, Viscountesses, are listed by name-gathering concerns along with plain titles of "Mrs." of our own shores, and sold to advertisers for their use.

When a new night club parts its velvet portieres on the opening performance, the choicest tables are occupied by society ladies whose names are known across the continent. And they are there on "invitation of the management."

No check greets them at the end of the evening. Only the use of their names in publicity is requested in return for food, music, lights and show.

New York stores say they could sell gowns cheaper if the wealthy women would pay more promptly. A prominent New Yorker bought and charged an imported black net evening gown with a smashing jade green bow.

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDERSILT, MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT (International News)

Next day the gown came back because "it wouldn't do." It was put on the marked down rack because it had been worn, and had the woman been less important a protest would have been made.

A western woman, recently rich and now to New York society ways, summed up the situation as follows:

"The Chinese may be a strange people, but New York society women are far funnier."

"I moved there from the West," she related, "and met the women with top-notch names."

"At bridge parties they would say very casually: 'Dear, lend me $5,000.' (Sometimes it was $5,000.) And they never mentioned the money again. I suppose it would be vulgar."

How to get it back? That is what the western woman would like to know.

Perhaps some puzzle expert can tell her how to use cross words that won't spell social ruin.

No Check in Unemployment

Level of Factory Employment Still Falling—Labor Saving Machinery and Better Organization Keep Production Up.

Albany, April 12—According to Industrial Commissioner James A. Smith, the downward movement in factory employment in New York has not been checked by the middle of March. Reports from 446 firms representing practically all of the factory industries in the state showed a net increase of less than three-tenths of one per cent from February to March. This is the smallest February to March increase that has been recorded since 1919. March is the month when spring production ordinarily reaches a peak and the ordinary seasonal movement after March is a slow decline. In October 1927 the number of factory workers employed in this state was four per cent less than in October the year before. From October 1927 through January 1928 the decrease in employment was six per cent. The gain in February and March together has been less than one and one-half per cent.

73,000 Laid Off in Year

The present surplus of unemployed workers has been created gradually. For the past two years manufacturing concerns in this state have added fewer workers to their forces in the busy season and have laid off more than the usual number in the dull season. The result is that the year 1928 closed with approximately 50,000 fewer workers on the payrolls of factories in New York state than were employed at the end of 1925 and the year 1927, with 60,000 fewer than 1926. In March of this year there were about 100,000 fewer factory workers employed than in March 1927.

Seasonal increases in N. Y. City made the increase in employment from February to March somewhat better in that district. In most upstate factories the season had closed for the men's clothing industry but New York city concerns manufacturing a few workers to their forces.

More Workers in Auto Factories. Although there was a net increase in employment for several industry classifications in the metals group, these increases were almost entirely offset by decreases in machinery and electrical apparatus plants and in the railroad repair shops. Employment in automobile and automobile parts factories advanced nearly three per cent from February to March and iron and steel plants were busier. However, both of these gains are mainly seasonal, and, for the iron and steel plants at least, March is very likely to be a peak month. Structural and architectural iron work which had maintained employment better than most metal industries in 1927, continued the decline that started in December with a decrease of one and one-half per cent from February to March. Instrument and optical goods plants reported generally increased employment.

Old Belief Disputed

Experiments made at the University of California have proved that a bull's reaction to the color of red is no more than any other color. In fact, judging by the conduct of the steers tested, it seems doubtful whether it can tell red from green, white or blue. It is even possible that the animals have no realization of color at all.

Italy Rejoices At King's Escape

Entire Nation Expresses Satisfaction That Milan Bomb Failed to Inflict Damage on Monarch—Escape
Due to Mischance of Royal Protection.

Rome, April 12 (AP). Italy was united in rejoicing today that King Victor Emmanuel had escaped death at Milan when a bomb exploded killing sixteen persons, and injuring forty.

Public buildings and private houses were bedecked with the national colors. Walls were plastered with manifestos denouncing the dastardly attempt and deploring the loss of so many lives. Above all they exulted that "Re Soldato" (the soldier king) whose reign saw the redemption of the lost provinces and the crushing of an hereditary enemy—Austria—at Vittorio Veneto ten years ago, had escaped an attempt upon his life.

Romans saw upon the walls a stirring proclamation from the govern Prince Spada, President of the Chamber of Deputies, who declared: "Emmanuel! In contrast to the miserable hand which had no respect at holding the instrument of death, there remains the blessed hands of millions of citizens ever strongly holding their instruments of labor and bearing aloft the flag of the mother country to show the scoundrel King their passionate devotion."

Similar expressions were forthcoming from the provincial government throughout the country and from patriotic societies.

The Fascist of Trent, formerly Austrian territory, sent homage "to the victims of national infamy." Perugia was plastered with inscriptions of "Long live the king" and "Long live Il Duce." Florence was bedecked with banners celebrating the escape of the monarch.

The king's son, Crown Prince Humbert, received the news by wireless at Rhodes in the Aegean Sea and messages of congratulations continued to pour into the Quirinal and Chigi Palaces.

Mussolini Sends Congratulations.

"The started soul of the entire nation entwines itself at this moment with ever and ever more intense affection about your majesty," Premier Mussolini said in a message to the king. "The labor loving rhythm of Milan and the nation's entire populace will endeavor for the glory of the dynasty and the power of the fatherland. I see Your Majesty to accept an expression of my profound devotion."

The premier sent a series of special messages to Milan with orders to leave no stone unturned to bring those responsible for the outrage to justice. He kept in touch with developments by private telephone line to Milan. Several members of the special court for the defense of the state also went to investigate. Heavy other municipal and national facilities for running down the perpetrators was set in motion.

It was due to the slowness of the royal protection that the king escaped being in the midst of the blast. The bomb was placed at the base of one of the electric light poles lining Piazza della Concordia and exploded about the time the king was scheduled to pass the spot.

King Replies To Mussolini.

Milan, April 12 (AP). King Victor Emmanuel today replied to Premier Mussolini's congratulations on his narrow escape in the bombing of yesterday. His message read:

"Thank you ever so much for your courteous telegram. The event, sad though it was, did not disturb the grandiose manifestation of labor at which, though my soul was stricken by so many innocent victims, it was present this morning."

"Your affectionate cousin,

"Victor Emmanuel."

The king also thanked President Casarino of the Chamber of Deputies for his message "in these circumstances rendered sorrowful by an insane act."

Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the premier and editor of Il Duce's organ, Popolo D'Italia, today said in that paper that those responsible for the bombing undoubtedly were ingenious political criminals.

POULTRY

ALL-MASH RATION GIVEN APPROVAL

All-mash poultry rations, for both growing chicks and laying hens, are suggested in the most recent bulletin on poultry procedure issued by the extension service of the Ohio state university. "The newer idea of poultry feeding favors the feeding of all the ingredients ground, mixed, and fed as a mash," says Prof. A. R. Winter, of the poultry husbandry department of the university, author of the bulletin.

"The method is simpler, more sanitary, and more economical in the use of the feed than where the ration is fed partly as scratch grain and partly as mash. Since birds prefer a granular mash to one finely ground, it is advisable not to grind the ingredients any finer than is necessary to prevent the chickens from picking over the material and taking out what they like best."

Two "starting and growing" rations, both of them all-mash, are listed in the bulletin. Three all-mash rations and one scratch grain and mash ration are suggested for laying hens.

The first starting and growing ration, a mash, consists of:

Ground yellow corn 72 pounds
Wheat middlings 20 pounds
Meat scraps (50% poultry) 5 pounds
Poultry bone meal 2 pounds
Salt 1 pound

Skim milk instead of water is given to drink during the first eight or ten weeks. Other forms of milk may be substituted.

The first ration suggested for laying hens is:

Ground yellow corn 85 pounds
Middlings or ground wheat 20 pounds
Meat scraps 10 pounds
Bone meal 4 pounds
Salt 1 pound

Water is given to drink. If milk is available, the meat scraps in the ration may be reduced to five pounds.

The bulletin discusses 21 feeding materials for poultry, with reference to their constituents and the particular feeding purpose for which they are available. It is entitled "Poultry Feeding Stuffs and Rations" and may be obtained by writing to the agricultural publications department of the Ohio state university.

Toulouse Best Goose

Breed for Marketing

The best breeds of geese for market are the Toulouse which is sometimes called the Land goose because it does not seem to miss the water; the Embden geese which are white and are profitable market geese, and the African which are nearly the color of the Toulouse and are also fine, large market geese. These are smaller, however, weighing only a little more than one-half of what the others do. Whenever Canadian geese are used to cross with the three or four above mentioned breeds, this cross produces a hybrid goose which is called a mongrel goose on the market. They are considered a great delicacy and bring the highest prices of any poultry per pound. Only a few of them are raised, however, as the demand is limited.

Successful Incubation

Successful and careful incubation, in the case of either duck or chicken eggs, is one of the first and most essential steps towards a strong, healthy flock. Many early chick losses are due to improper incubation and much of the low hatchability of eggs can be traced to poor incubator management. As a consequence, care to details at this time will mean dollars and cents for the poultryman when selling or egg-laying time comes.

Goose Septicemia

There is a disease of geese and goslings known as goose septicemia which causes sudden death. This is a disease undoubtedly due to poison in the feed. No cure is yet known. Sanitary conditions will prevent the disease. The healthy goslings should be removed to new quarters, a coarse mash should be fed and everything kept as clean as possible. With clean water and a fresh range there should be no trouble to raise them.

Raising Baby Chicks

Raising baby chicks is not such a difficult operation as some would think. Yet a few things are necessary for proper care and raising of chicks. You can raise chicks without much preparation or very much equipment, but your losses will be heavy and your profits will be little if you do not use the proper methods. You should be prepared to receive the chicks so that when they come you will not have to delay putting them in their future home.

Dirt Floors Poor

Dirt floors are the poorest kind for the poultry house because of the great amount of labor required to keep them clean through each year. Board floors are better than dirt but are hard to clean thoroughly. Concrete floors are the most sanitary and economical. It pays to put in concrete floors in the spring or early summer so they will have time to dry out before the hens are housed for winter. The concrete floor should be 6 or 8 inches above the outside soil.

Otherwise ANK

It seems to be the general idea that the only difference between the big cities and Hades is that in the latter place they don't play such up-to-date music and it has fewer tall buildings.—American Magazine.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 12 (AP)—The "bull" movement in stock prices was resumed with increased vigor today as speculative interest switched from the non-dividend paying issues to the high grade investment stocks.
Bulls again came to the forefront of the advance with a brisk demand developing for the eastern carriers.
Trading was maintained at a terrific pace, with the ticker again falling far behind the market. Total sales averaged 750,000 shares an hour in the early part of the session.

The unexpectedly small increase in brokers' loans and the lower renewal rate for call money provided the chief background for the advance. Little attention was paid to the continued firmness of time money and the increase in bankers' acceptance rates. Formation of a big combination of British and American financial interests to further world trade was given a bullish interpretation by Wall Street.

General Electric was one of the outstanding features of today's market, soaring nearly 12 points to a new high record at 165. Otis Elevator climbed 1 1/2 points, Rossia Insurance and Adams Express 10 each and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe 9 1/2.
Lehigh Valley, moving up more than four points to a new 1928 high at 104 1/2, led the advance in the ralls. Reading and New York Central each climbed 3 points and Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and several others advanced two points or more.

ing naughty," said the King of the Clouds.

"I should say that was true all right," said Old Man Weather as he laughed.

"Well, you help me, too, you know,"
said the King of the Clouds.

"Of course I do," said Old Man Weather. "And I get abused for it, too. Ah, yes, my friend, I do not get so much praise when I play with you.
In fact, I am scolded more than you are."

"One hears far more scolding about the Weather than about the Rain itself."

"Well," said the King of the Clouds,
"it is quite worth the scolding."

"Yes," Old Man Weather agreed, "it is."

How It Started

CALLING THEM 'STUCK UP'

THIS bit of slang is quite familiar in the vernacular to describe a snobbish person, one with an air of superiority or superiority.

For the origin of the term we must go to birdland. Any observer of the peacock or the plain farmyard turkey, for instance, knows that when angry or in an encounter with an enemy the birds raise the erectile feathers with which nature has equipped them, either on their crests, on their backs or in their tails.

In the parlance of the farmyard these manifestations of indignation, were "stuck-ups." And it is from that source that we have "stuck up" for the human who shows pride or snob-bishness.

Reason Enough

The teacher gave an examination in physiology. One of the questions asked was, "Why is it necessary for us to chew our food?"

One of the pupils wrote the following answer, "It is necessary for us to chew our food because we have no gizzard."—Youth's Companion.

Talking Parrots

The Mexican cock's yellow head is probably the best talking bird among American parrots. This is probably equal to the African gray, which is the Old World favorite. Parrots must be taught to talk while young. Older birds learn little and very slowly.

"You were certainly naughty," said Old Man Weather. "How many understand did you and your family blow out?"

"I didn't blow out," said the King of the Clouds. "Mr. Wind helped us do that. Oh, he is in that game."

"Yes, you're a splendid pair for naughtiness when you get started and then you have all your families to help you."

"Well, well, to think only the day before the river nearby was so calm and the opposite shore looked so near to those who were on the other side, and the river and the shore were talking about boats and fishes and one thing and another."

"Then the day before that everything was so bright and clear and the colors were so blue along the river and it looked as though it were never going to rain."

"Well," said the King of the Clouds,
"I must say that I didn't know two days ago or a day ago what I was going to do. It was one of those lovely parties one gets up on the spur of the moment, which means that they're parties suddenly begun."

"Yes," said Old Man Weather, "and people were out in their fine clothes and their good hats and their best shoes and you surprised them—and didn't stop as though Prince Shower were managing things."

"Prince Shower is different from you, King of the Clouds."

"Yes," agreed the King of the Clouds, "he is. Prince Shower gets rather tired of doing anything for very long at a time."

"I'm different from that. Very different, indeed. And if you say I gave the people a surprise party, too—well, that, too, adds to my naughtiness and I was thoroughly naughty this last time, thoroughly naughty."

"You were, you were, but Old Man Weather is to blame, too, and so is Mr. Wind."

"What's that?" whistled Mr. Wind.
"What's that you say of me, Old Man Weather?"

And when he heard what it was that Old Man Weather had said, instead of being angry he was proud and stuck out his chest and puffed and blew with great pride.

Then the King of the Clouds and Old Man Weather and Mr. Wind whistled this song:

Sometimes we three are over so bad,
But it makes us feel happy and gay and glad.

ACCIDENTS

LAST year about 15,000 persons were killed in accidents, and about 50,000 were injured by fire, while nearly 6,000 lost their lives by drowning. The loss of 7,500 lives was due to railroad accidents. A total loss of life last year due to accidents has been averaged at $7,000, an average of 240 per day. Accidents that did not cause death also took its toll last year. A little more than 100,000 persons lost arms, eyes, hands, or met with some other serious accident, causing suffering, expense and loss of earning capacity. The economic loss of all these accidents has not been calculated, but it must run into the millions.

Many reasons have been advanced to account for these accidents. Perhaps they are due not so much to a careless attitude toward life as to the speed and "jazz spirit" of our age.
The world was not made in a day.
It takes time to develop a business.
Responsible positions are not achieved in a hurry. Such places of trust must be earned by long waiting and patient striving. Many a good chance for advancement has been lost by being in too great a hurry. Competence is a matter of experience.
The patient routine of daily toil furnishes the best vantage ground for large places of trust. The man at the head of any organization begins at the bottom. By slow processes through long spans of time was he prepared for leadership.

Government Rests In Sinclair Case

Further Evidence Conditional Upon Decision of Justice Bailey Whether Testimony Shall Be Admitted Concerning Fall's Trip to Russia.

Washington, April 12 (AP)— Blocked, temporarily at least, from going into two lines of evidence it had offered, the government tentatively rested its case today against Harry F. Sinclair.

The evidence which Owen J.
Roberts wanted to put into the record concerned the $25,000 Sinclair handed over to Albert B. Fall for a trip to Russia made by the former cabinet officer and the transaction between Fall and E. L. Doh-eny, Sr., leasee of the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve.

Martin W. Littleton, for Sinclair, objected on the grounds that this evidence was not germane, and Justice Bailey took the question under advisement until Monday morning, and adjourned court over the weekend.

Coinciding with the adjournment of court, the bribery charges against E. L. Doheny, Jr., who carried $100-000 in a little black bag to Fall, were nolle prossed on motion of the government. Roberts hopes to call Doheny as a witness if the court rules for him.

Henry Ford Buys Old Toll House

Haverhill, Mass., April 13 (AP)— A toll house reminiscent of the days when New England bridges could only be crossed upon payment of a fee and distinguished because John Greenleaf Whittier once referred to it, has become the property of Henry Ford.

From 1828 to 1869 the one room wooden shack guarded the way to Rocks Bridge. In the years when the bridge was little used and the toll keeper had much spare time on his hands, he employed it at cobbling, shoes and after the day's chores were done on neighboring farms it was an accustomed meeting place.

Whittier mentioned it as "Cobbler's stall" in his poem, "The Countess." Now it will be transported to the Ford estate at Dearborn, Mich., to join other New England antiques in Mr. Ford's extensive collection there.

Took Indian Appellation

Perth Amboy was settled in 1683 and was expected soon to outstrip its neighbors and become the London of America. It was named Perth, after James, earl of Perth, but Amboy, the original Indian name for the place, was soon added. It was the capital of the province from 1684 almost continuously up to the time of the Revolution. William Franklin, the last royal governor, was captured there in 1776.
Perth Amboy was incorporated as a city in 1718.

Instrument Warns of

Niagara Ice Forming

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—An intricate machine combining wind-velocity and water-level gauges with a wind-direction indicator warns the Niagara Falls power company when ice may be expected to form in the upper Niagara river.

The contrivance, invented by Peter S. of Niagara Falls, is sheltered on a small island near the company's power houses above the falls. Impressions made by the three devices are synchronized on a sheet of paper which passes through the machine.

The wind-velocity gauge is so constructed that it operates a recording device which prints a red dot on the paper when the wind cups overhead have traversed a mile. A pen, operated by the water-level gauge, records the height of the water above mean tide. A weather vane, propels a stamping device with a rubber arrow which always points in the same direction as the vane. Passage of time is indicated on the paper so that the machine computes an hourly record of the three instruments.

Seller's invention supplants three separate recording devices and eliminates a tedious job of comparison.

Montreal, Quebec.—A regular movie theater was enacted by the Canadian Pacific railway police when they pursued in a locomotive and captured four youths who had stolen a motor-car from a railroad work car.

Warned by a telegraph operator that the men on a motor car were speeding toward an oncoming train, disregarding all signals and semaphores, the officers requisitioned a locomotive and started in pursuit.

Great Soldier's Bed

Speeding Motor Car

One black day in April, 1913, when the British army was fighting for its life, it came upon a strange spectacle in the retreating flood of war wreckage that filled the roads leading westward from our crumbling front.

It was a shining limousine, all plate glass and upholstery, with a solitary occupant behind the smart soldier driver, a general officer of the type commonly known as a "Braes Hat."

He was muffled in an overcoat, and he half sat, half reclined on the cushions, his head tilted against the padded back, altogether an incongruous picture of ease and contentment. The tired and hungry soldiers on the road looked at him with amazement, for he was asleep.

Few of them noticed the union jack on the top of the car, or realized that the only man who slept in all that tragic multitude was the "O. in C."

Sir Douglas Haig as he was then, or that he slept from sheer exhaustion because he had not slept since the German advance began. As he drove constantly from one headquarters to another behind the stricken line, he would snatch a few uneasy moments of slumber. It was his only chance.

This is my most vivid recollection of Lord Haig. During those critical days when, as he himself said, our men were fighting with their backs to the wall, he was constantly among them, and in places where no commander-in-chief need have been. He was a silent man, and shy, and by no means given to spectacular gestures of approval.—Sir Percival Phillips in the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

WHY

Perfumes Should Be Kept in the Dark

Have you ever wondered why the perfume on your dressing table seems to change odor from week to week? Perhaps you have been puzzled because a fragrance which seemed agreeable at the time you bought it becomes commonplace or even unpleasant after you have used it a few weeks, says the Kansas City Star.

"Always keep perfume in a dark place," advises Lucien Lelong, the Paris dressmaker whose study of perfume has resulted in valuable suggestions for its use. "Daylight will affect every odor differently according to its formula and in extreme cases the perfume turns bright red as soon as it has been exposed to the sun."

Jasmine becomes black in the light, other flower extracts darken less noticeably, but as soon as they change color, even slightly, the perfume changes. According to M. Lelong, certain chemicals suffer similarly as a result of exposure to light. If a product such as indol has been used in the perfume it will form ether and emit a foul odor soon after it has been allowed to stand in the sun.

So carefully must the elements which compose a perfume be guarded that many of the more fragile extracts are bought in a discolored state by the perfumer to prevent darkening after they have been mixed. Discolored floral elements cost a great deal more than flowers in a natural state, and they are reserved for expensive perfumes.

The need is evident for keeping perfume flacons tightly stoppered. Air, sunlight, will harm the scent and carelessness in keeping the odor airtight results in a noticeable loss of strength and quality.

Why Rainfall Is Heavy

After Lightning Flash

That it often rains harder after a vivid flash of lightning and heavy peal of thunder is a fact well known to meteorologists, says the Pathfinder Magazine.

Strictly speaking, however, the "rain gush," as weather experts call it, is caused by neither the lightning nor the thunder. According to the United States weather bureau, the phenomenon is explained as follows:

A cloud is electrified when raindrops are produced by a rapidly rising mass of warm, humid air. The greater the quantity of suspended raindrops, the greater, in general, will be the quantity of electricity. Therefore, when there is a large amount of rain already formed in a cloud there is often a correspondingly heavy discharge of lightning followed by thunder. The light from the discharge, the thunder and the raindrops all start down at the same time. But the light, being much faster, is seen before the thunder is heard; and the drops, being slower even than the thunder, follow immediately. Thus the action of the rising air on the raindrops causes the lightning, and the lightning causes the thunder.

Why Thermometers Err

Even thermometers grow old, and consequently inaccurate with aged mercurial instruments reading too high and spirit instruments too low. In the former case the bulb appears to shrink, thus forcing the quicksilver too far up the stem. This gradual shrinkage is supposed to be due to the fact that external pressure on the bulb may be considerably higher than the internal pressure, the air as far as possible having been removed before the glass is sealed. On the other hand, the spirit thermometer is sealed with the bulb covered in a freezing mixture. In order to lock up in the glass as much air as possible. The instrument thus starts with the internal pressure which in time appears to be reduced either by expansion of the glass under the internal pressure or by leakage.

Why Rainfall Is Lessening

During the last half-century the world's average rainfall has, according to weather records, decreased about 1 per cent. This has been considered due to outside influences such as variation in sunlight, but an Indian weather expert has put forward a suggestion for the decrease. He suggests that the lack of rain may be due to an oil film, less than a millionth of an inch thick, spread on the surface of the ocean by ships that burn oil for fuel. Evaporation of ocean water is the chief source of rain, and this film of oil may be sufficient to retard evaporation.

Why Hook Doesn't Hurt Fish

There are very few nerves around the mouth of a fish and consequently it feels little pain when caught by a hook. This is proved by the fact that often the same fish can be caught over and over in the same day. The fact is, fish seem to feel very little pain in any part of the body. They do, of course, feel some pain and discomfort.

BABE RUTH MISSES FIRST BALL PITCHED

Grove, of the Philadelphia Athletics, sent over a sharp one that the great "Babe" missed in the opening game with the New York "Yankees" in the Quaker City. The Yanks came out on top 8-3. (International Newsreel)

Finally Lands Major Berth

FOR some minor league stars the road to the big leagues is short, sharp and sure. For others it is a long and rambling trail mostly winding through the meadows and cornfields of many farms. And of this latter class none traveled a longer track or served more time on farms than did Lance Richbourg, the Boston Braves outfielder of last season. Richbourg's baseball career covers a period of nine years and extends from Florida to Michigan and from Fresno Bay to that bay whose waters lap the eastern limits of Boston. He must have had a lot of courage and bulldog tenacity deep in his heart to have survived failure and misfortune so long and still had enough left to win his goal.

Lance Richbourg.

Richbourg was a student in the University of Florida when McGraw took his Glaxos to Gainesville in the spring of the year 1919 to train. The glitter of a big league training camp, of course, dazzled the eyes of the young collegian and he signed to play with McGraw. He thought he was an infielder and he knew he could hit. He was also very fast. Well, McGraw farmed him to Oakland for a season and then recalled him and farmed him out again, this time to Toledo, and then traded him to the Phils. He could not seem to get into his stride. He showed flashes of hitting form that lured the big league managers on, but he never seemed to be able to win a regular berth. He was farmed out to Dallas and later to Charlotte in the South Atlantic league. During the year he was with the Phils he warmed the bench, not appearing in a game. Nothing in this record to write back to the University of Florida about and have posted in the gym about that institution's former star.

Playing for Grand Rapids in the Central league, Richbourg hit over 400. Finally he landed in Nashville with his big league career apparently at an end. He led the Southern league in hitting and was signed by Washington and immediately afterwards proceeded to break his leg. The Senators sent him to Minneapolis on the Matthews deal. This was his seventh minor league stand and his third big league failure. Nothing daunted, this game Florida collegian started all over again seven years after McGraw had plucked him from his college campus and played so well in the American association that Judge Fuchs hired him in the fall of 1926 to play the 1927 season for his Braves.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Babe Adams has quit baseball, and he didn't even stop to talk terms with Connie Mack.

Again they are talking about Tulsa and Oklahoma City entering the Western league, this time for the season of 1929.

Pocket McMahon, last season in the Texas league, has signed for a whirl at first base with Raleigh of the Piedmont league.

Second Baseman Ray Moore and Pitcher Ed Tenney have been sold to Jackson of the Cotton States league by Laurel of the same circuit.

Jerry Belanger, veteran first baseman, has signed a contract with Pittsfield of the Eastern league. He was with Bridgeport last season.

Howard Lindmore, infielder belonging to the Fort Worth Cats of the Texas league, has been purchased by Little Rock of the Southern loop.

Steve Plesnik, a semi-pro outfielder of Newark, N. J., has been signed by Manager Gus Getz for his Scranton club in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

The Athletics have one of the most valuable utility players in baseball in Jimmy Dykes, a hard-hitter, who can play any position on the infield—and play it well.

Four young outfielders, Gibson, Culver, Zitelman and Glover, failed to fill the needs as seen by Manager Frank Snyder at Houston, and were given releases.

Catcher Ed Cousineau of the Mobile Bears had the first finger of his right hand so badly smashed by a foul tip that he was put on the hospital list for a long spell.

Pitchers Herbert Rauding and Ed Bragden and Catcher Ray Ahern, all members of a Boston amateur team, have joined the Hattiesburg club of the Cotton States league.

Sam Fayonsky, a high school star of Greenville, S. C., is to get a trial with Greenville of the Sally league. He is an outfielder and reported to be an unusually strong hitter.

The first player to be signed by Dick Rudolph, new manager of the Waterbury Eastern-league team, is Hap Carney, a young right-handed pitcher, formerly of St. John's academy.

Bless Schlein and Sam Hipe, two Dayton amateurs, have been signed by the Dayton club in the new Central league. President Phil Bartelme plans to give promising Dayton youngsters a chance.

Travea Wauer is the best batter in the Wauer family, according to his cousins, Paul and Lloyd. Unless the cousins are just being kind, the Pirates must have a sensation in young Travea, for last season Paul led the National league and Lloyd was third in hitting.

Rube Bressler, the hard hitting outfielder of the Reds, became a member of the Brooklyn Robins. It is reported that Bressler bought his release from the Reds for $4,000, and got $5,000 for signing with the Robins. And yet ball players are supposed to have poor business heads.

House Chose President
The house of representatives elected Thomas Jefferson President on February 17, 1801. The candidates in the popular election in November, 1800, were Jefferson, Aaron Burr and John Adams, but no candidate received a majority.

The photograph shows Herbert Schwarze, the University of Wisconsin shot putter who is now a member of the Illinois A. "Poor Man on Insult"
In this extravagant age, a poor man is an insult to a woman. A poor man is frequently able to fool a woman before marriage, and make her believe he is very promising, and will become rich, but he can never fool her after marriage.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

May Succeed Depew

Wall Street mentions E. E. Loomis (above), President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, as a possible successor to the late Chauncey M. Depew as chairman of the New York Central. (International Illustrated News)

Work on City Hall Progresses

Work on the reconstruction of the city hall is rapidly progressing and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy during September or October. Practically all of the steel has been placed in the building and the steel for the roof has been installed. All of the concrete floors in the building have been poured and considerable other work on the interior completed. Owing to the fact that the contractors have been busy at work on the interior of the building what has been accomplished does not show from the street. They are several weeks ahead of their contract owing to the favorable weather conditions that have prevailed.

"Life a Universal Force"

Swante August Arrhenius, the noted Swedish chemist and physicist, believes that life is an interstellar element and may be transmitted from one planet to another. According to his conception, life is universally diffused and is constantly emitted from all habitable worlds in the form of spores. These spores traverse space for years, and possibly ages. The majority of them are ultimately destroyed by the heat of some blazing star, but some few, he thinks, find a resting place on bodies which have already reached the habitable stage. Life, according to Arrhenius, may also be transmitted from one heavenly body to another by means of meteors.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Talking About Oneself

Speech of a man's self ought to be seldom, and well chosen. I knew one was wont to say in scorn, "He needs a wise man, he speaks so much of himself"; and there is but one case wherein a man may commend himself with good grace and that is in commending virtue in another, especially if it be such a virtue wherein himself pretends. Speech of touch to words others should be sparingly used; for discourse ought to be as a field, without coming home to any man.—Lord Bacon.

Crows Unaffected by Gas

Crows have no fear of toxic gas. The chemical division of the army at Washington experimented with crows and gas. The crows were gassed but immediately flew high in the air where they escaped the fumes which clung to the earth. During the war pigeons returned to their cages safely when liberated in a gas cloud. This mystery was solved when the birds were seen to rise quickly above the gas. Tests show that crows fly out of gas clouds in much the same manner.

"I'm going to refurnish this bedroom when I can do it right." People are paying more attention to correct design and sound construction. When this combination comes at a moderate price, the inducement to have a fashionable bedroom is irresistible. Here is a Berkey & Gay suite that happily combines a charming purity of form and outline with the decorative effect of beautifully deep-toned woods. Butt walnut is hand matched in footboard and smaller drawer paneling. Straight grain walnut beautifies the larger surfaces. And American Gumwood is added for strength.

"Treasure Island"
Thrilled Crowd

Just as was feared, St. John's parish house was not big enough to comfortably accommodate the people who wanted to see "Treasure Island" in pantomime as given by the amateurs and choir boys of the church on Thursday evening.

For was the parish house large enough to give the perspective that such a splendid performance deserved. The carpenter work necessary to erecting the stage, kindly loaned for the occasion, was done by John A. Cole. Walter T. Elston assisted in many valuable ways in making the success that the performance proved to be, while Walter T. Elston, Jr., acted as property man. The very effective make-up, that completely changed a group of choir boys and their leader into the most fearsome of pirates and buccaners, was the work of that expert actor and playwright, Erasmus Osprey. The remarkably clever scenery, Admiral Ben Bow, the Ship Sparrow, the work of Miss Emily Hays, and for the special lighting the boys have Mr. Lasher to thank. The amazing costumes were, for the most part, made by a few of the women of the parish, and public acknowledgment of the services of all these helpers is made by the choir and acolytes and Mr. Williams, all of the choir.

There was some excellent acting shown making real a quite unreal story to the people of today. Robert Williams—the Master of Chorus—his double role of Billy Bones, holding the secret of Treasure Island, and John Silver, the one-legged sea dog, was so good as to leave the idea of an amateur performance quite out of mind. Close seconds to Mr. Williams were Arthur Hazenbush as "Jim Hawkins," the lad who told the story and was the hero of the same, and John Kwant as the villainous "Israel Hand," who helped Jim to bring the Hispaniola to port. Arthur Lacey as "Squire Trelawney," Fred Scott as "Captain Smollett," Harry Clarke as "Jim's Mother," Richard Cole as "Dr. Livesey," Fulton Maines as "Black Dog," David Brown as "Pew, the blind beggar," were all of them good while the pirates and villagers took their parts unusually well.

When one considers that the performance was in pantomime save for Billy Bones, "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest," "Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum," with the captions read by Rodger Scott, and yet that the audience was kept on tiptoe throughout the scenes from Robert Louis Stevenson's first novel, one realizes what an excellent dramatic presentation it was. The audience seemed quite unanimous in their expressions that it should be repeated in some large auditorium so that more people could enjoy it and at the same time further swell the Summer Camp Fund of the choristers of St. John's Church.

ST. JOSEPH'S BOYS' MINSTRELS
SCORES SUCCESS AGAIN

St. Joseph's Hall was crowded to the limit on the second night of the performance of the "Fun-making Minstrelsy," which was even better given than on the first night as the lads lost their stage fright—those who had any—and put the program over with such a dash and spirit, that Manager Texier of Reade's Kingston Theatre was most enthusiastic over its excellence, as well he might be. "Mocan and Quack," (John Brillion and Edward O'Connor), were particularly funny and got off some clever jokes. Another good number was the duet, "So Am I," sung by John Callahan and Thomas Lamb. While all of the chorus work was worthy of special note, the lads who did solo parts also deserved much credit. They were Michael Goffredi in "Hallelujah," James Hardy, Howard Gadd and Walter Gadd in "In Little Old New York," George Teller in "Show Boat," Robert Flynn in the recitation and chorus, "Baby Your Mother," Kenneth Dunnigan in "Old Man River," and Joseph Brophy in "My Blue Heaven."

Mrs. Leary was assisted by Mrs. John Reis at the piano and by the Girl Scouts of St. Joseph's Church, who, wearing their Scout uniforms, acted as ushers.

The boys want to "tell the world" that they themselves particularly liked the last song, "Good Night."

which they sang as though they liked it, because it was entirely the composition of their beloved director, Mrs. Leary.
